● This seven story modern office building is of Renaissance design with walls of kyune sandstone quarried in Sanpete County, Utah. The entrances are American Colonial and the cornice is Classic Denail. The equisite pillars are Vermont granite and interior decorations are Bizerte, North African marble.

● For years Chiefs Aeropeen and Kanosh may have pitched their tepees on this site while they enjoyed the excellent hunting and fishing in the valley, and benefited from the medicinal values of the Wasatch Warm Springs. The land patent was issued to Mayor Daniel H. Wells by President Ulysses S. Grant, June 1, 1872. The first tenant of the 7th floor was the University Club. It is rumored Princess Sacajawea spent her honeymoon on this corner.
